The Terp Scholars’ Code of Student Conduct was created to ensure the safety and security of the University community. The code, seeks to balance the rights and responsibilities of all individuals within the community, and uphold the integrity and values of the University of Maryland. The Code of Student Conduct outlines behaviors that are inconsistent with University standards and expectations and sets forth applicable procedures and potential sanctions governing violations. Due to the high expectations the University has of its community members, responsibilities set forth in University policies may exceed federal, state, or local requirements.

When students choose to enroll in Terp Scholars at the University of Maryland, they accept the rights and responsibilities of membership in the University community both on and off campus. Students at the University of Maryland are expected to uphold the values of the University by conducting themselves in accordance with all policies and procedures.

Violation of the Code of Student Conduct is subject to immediate dismissal from Terp Scholars. Decisions on disciplinary sanctions are the sole authority of the Manager of Programs, Associate Director of Programs and the Director of Programs, Office of Extended Studies.

This list of prohibited conduct is provided to inform students, students groups, and student organizations of behaviors that are not permitted. The list should be read broadly and is not designed to define misconduct in exhaustive terms. Attempts to commit acts prohibited by the Code of Student Conduct may be sanctioned to the same extent as completed violations.

If You See Something, Say Something!
As upstanding members of the University community, all students are expected to report any Code of Student Conduct violations to the proper authorities. Spectators, or persons in the presence, of a Code of Student Conduct violation who fail to report the violation, may be sanctioned to the same extent as those persons who actively participate.

IV. Misconduct: Alcohol and Drug Abuse Policy

The University of Maryland at College Park is dedicated to the pursuit and dissemination of knowledge. The illegal or abusive use of drugs or alcohol by members of the campus community jeopardizes the safety of the individual and the campus community, and is inimical to the academic learning process. The University of Maryland is therefore committed to having a campus that is free of the illegal or abusive use of drugs and alcohol. In keeping with this commitment, it is the policy of the University that the illegal or abusive use of drugs or alcohol is prohibited on University property or as part of University activities. In order to inform all students of their responsibilities and the possible penalties for violations of this policy, the following rules, standards of conduct, and sanctions are set forth.

A. Drugs
The Code of Conduct prohibits, on University premises or at University sponsored activities, the 1) unauthorized distribution; 2) possession for purposes of distribution; 3) use; or 4) possession of any controlled substance or illegal drugs. “Controlled substance” and “illegal drugs” prohibited under the Code are set forth in Schedules I through V in Article 27, part 279 of the Annotated Code of Maryland.

The Code of Conduct prohibits the violation of published University regulations or policies regarding the possession, use or distribution of alcoholic beverages, as approved and compiled by the Vice-President for Student Affairs. The Resident Life Alcohol Policy controls the use, possession or distribution of alcohol in campus residence halls. V. Misconduct: Violation of the Sexual Assault and Misconduct Policy

Every member of the University community should be aware that all sexual contact or behavior on the campus and/or occurring with a member of the University community must be consensual. Consent must be clear and voluntary, free of coercion or force, and may be communicated through verbal or non-verbal expression. In order to give consent, one must be of legal age for sexual consent and be both sober and conscious enough to understand what is being agreed to. Consent may be withdrawn at any point.

The University will not tolerate sexual assault, sexual harassment, or any other form of sexual misconduct. Such behavior is prohibited by both State and Federal law and University policy. The standard University disciplinary sanction for any sexual misconduct, including acquaintance rape, is dismissal from the University and/or termination of employment. Sexual misconduct policies are enforceable for sexual misconduct that occurs on University premises or at University-sponsored events. Regardless of where sexual misconduct occurs the University will process any complaints in accordance with applicable University policies.

IV. Student Conduct Violation Process

This section provides a general overview of the conduct violation process. Not all cases are the same, and allegations differ in their severity and complexity. However, the Office of Extended Studies endeavors to treat similar facts and circumstances consistently.

Certain conduct may constitute both a violation of law and a violation of the Code of Student Conduct. Therefore, students may be accountable to both criminal authorities and to the University as a result of the same conduct or incident. The University’s student conduct process differs from any legal or criminal proceedings. Disciplinary action at the University will normally move forward before or during criminal proceedings, and will not be subject to challenge on the grounds that criminal charges involving the same incident have been dismissed or reduced.

A. Referral

a. Anyone may refer a student, student organization, or student group suspected of violating the Terp Scholars’ Code of Student Conduct. Written referrals are preferred. The Office of Extended Studies will review all referrals for reasonable cause; this means that the Office will review the allegations to determine whether there is evidence, which if true, would result in sanctioning.

b. Retaliation against anyone for reporting an alleged violation of the Code of Student Conduct is strictly prohibited and persons who retaliate will be considered for further disciplinary action.

c. Methods of Referral
   i. Submit a Conduct Referral Form (the link to this form can also be found on the Terp Scholars ELMS page).
   ii. Contact mentor staff duty phone.
   iii. Send an email to the Terp Scholars email (ysp@umd.edu).
   iv. Call the Terp Scholars office (301-405-7762) Monday-Friday 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.
   v. Speak directly to mentor or professional staff.

d. Anyone referring a student, student organization, or student group suspected of violating the Code of Student Conduct, may remain anonymous; however, anonymity may limit the University’s ability to investigate and respond to a complaint.

B. Time Restrictions

a. Individuals are encouraged to report incidents as soon as they occur so that witnesses can be identified and important information and documents preserved, in the event there is a reasonable cause determination and the Office determines to move forward.

b. Conduct violations should be reported immediately to the Office of Extended Studies staff. Reports after 48 hours of occurrence may limit the Office of Extended Studies’ ability to investigate and respond to a complaint.

c. Time restrictions for the Office of Extended Studies incident reporting are separate from any restrictions for criminal proceedings.

C. Preliminary Interview

a. Immediately after an incident is reported, the Office of Extended Studies will contact all students involved with the violation to request they attend a preliminary interview. The purpose of the preliminary interview is to review the allegation and determine if there is reasonable cause.
D. Disciplinary Meeting
   a. If there is reasonable cause, the Office of Extended Studies will contact all students involved with the violation to request they attend a Disciplinary Meeting. The purpose of the Disciplinary Meeting is to review the Code of Student Conduct, discuss the impact of violation, and note what sanctions, if any, will be imposed due to the violation.
   b. Disciplinary meetings can take place in a designated area in the residence hall or in the Office of Extended Studies office.

E. Sanction Decisions
   Students found responsible for disciplinary offenses are subject to sanctions. The aims of sanctioning are to protect the Terp Scholars and campus community, deter future offenses, promote individual accountability, and enhance ethical development. Reasonable efforts are made to education and support students in reaching their academic and personal goals while fostering a climate of accountability and responsibility for one’s actions. However, the University is not designed nor equipped to rehabilitate persons who pose a substantial threat to themselves or others.
   a. Decisions on disciplinary sanctions are the sole authority of the Manager of Programs, Associate Director of Programs and the Director of Programs, Office of Extended Studies.

F. Sanction Types
   The Manager of Programs, Associate Director of Programs, and the Director of Programs, Office of Extended Studies may impose the following sanctions for Code of Student Conduct violations:
   a. Letter of Reprimand
      i. For all student conduct violations, Terp Scholars will issue a Letter of Reprimand, a written warning, signed by the student, which details the violation.
      ii. Depending on the severity of the incident, the Letter of Reprimand may accompany dismissal from the program or campus police notification.
      iii. Letters of Reprimand are not attached to the student’s official University of Maryland record.
   b. Program Dismissal
      i. Permanent separation of the student, student organization, or student group from Terp Scholars.
      ii. Any student dismissed from Terp Scholars is not eligible to return.
X. Acceptable Use of Computing Resources Policy

A. Primary Principles: Freedom of Expression and Personal Responsibility
Freedom of expression and an open environment to pursue scholarly inquiry and for sharing of information are encouraged, supported, and protected at the University of Maryland. These values lie at the core of our academic community. Censorship is not compatible with the tradition and goals of the University. While some computing resources may be dedicated to specific research, teaching, or administrative tasks that would limit their use, freedom of expression must, in general, be protected. The University does not limit access to information due to its content when it meets the standard of legality. The University's policy of freedom of expression applies to computing resources.

Concomitant with free expression are personal obligations of each member of our community to use computing resources responsibly, ethically, and in a manner that accords both with the law and the rights of others. The campus depends first upon a spirit of mutual respect and cooperation to create and maintain an open community of responsible users.

B. General
These guidelines set forth standards for responsible and acceptable use of University computing resources. They supplement existing University policies, agreements, and state and federal laws and regulations. Computing resources include host computer systems, University-sponsored computers and workstations, communications networks, software, and files.

Computing resources are provided to support the academic research, instructional, and administrative objectives of the University. These resources are extended for the sole use of University faculty, staff, students, and other authorized users to accomplish tasks related to the user's status at the University, and consistent with the University's mission.

Users are responsible for safeguarding their identification (ID) codes and passwords, and for using them for their intended purposes only. Each user is responsible for all transactions made under the authorization of his or her ID, and for all network activity originating from his or her data jack. Users are solely responsible for their personal use of computing resources and are prohibited from representing or implying that the content constitutes the views or policies of the University.

Violation of these guidelines constitutes unacceptable use of computing resources, and may violate other University policies and/or state and federal law. Suspected or known violations should be reported to the appropriate University computing unit. The appropriate University authorities and/or law enforcement agencies will process violations. Violations may result in revocation of computing resource privileges, academic dishonesty or Honor Council proceedings, faculty, staff or student disciplinary action, or legal action.
C. User Responsibilities
The following provisions describe conduct prohibited under these guidelines:

a. Altering system software or hardware configurations without authorization, or disrupting or interfering with the delivery or administration of computer resources.

b. Attempting to access or accessing another's account, private files, or e-mail without the owner's permission; or misrepresenting oneself as another individual in electronic communication.
